Women’s Texas Golf Association hosted its annual LPGA / USGA Girls Golf Texas Challenge on Tuesday, July 21 at Redstone Golf Club starting at 8:00 a.m. Forty-eight (48) girls from Houston, Dallas, Austin, Corpus Christi and Longview competed in a 9-hole competition with Houston defending its title from 2008. The format consisted of 8 person teams with 2 players from each of the following age categories (10 & under, 11-12, 13-14, 15-17). A best ball score is taken from each age category and the 4 best ball scores will be added together for each team’s score. The LPGA USGA Girls Golf exposes thousands of girls throughout the year to not only the game of golf but also the many benefits of the sport including integrity, honesty, hard work, dedication and being active. We also focus on the rules, etiquette, sportsmanship, camaraderie and exposure to the many opportunities through the WTGA Winner’s Program, a golf and grades initiative.
